IOWA LOSES AT BASEBALL

Game Long Drawn Out and Altogether One-Sided Affair.

Play Begins All Right but the Iowa Boys in Blue Soon Make a Pudding for the Town Team.

The Iowans did not make as good a fist at baseball as at football. Game was called between Iowa and Wela ka Hao nines at 3:45 yesterday afternoon. There was a light grandstand, paid admissions being about 250. These were the teams:

IOWA. WELA KA HAO.
Bircher, captain.....p.....Lemon
O'Callaghan.....c.....H. Wilder
Haladay.....ib.....Davis, captain
Cersey.....2b.....Mahuka
Tinley.....3b.....Gorman
Jones.....ss.....Moore
George.....ff.....W. Lucas
Gregg.....lf.....Kiley
Kline.....cf.....Bower

Stiles was third base for the Iowa, and Elston right field for the town team, in the first and second inning.

Wela ka Hao went to bat and was quickly retired—Mahuka on strikes, Kiley at first and Moore on strikes. Stiles, for the Iowa, was retired at first. Haladay, hailed by his friends as "the boy to bat," hit a grounder to short and ran like a deer, but the ball was sent in to first too quickly for him. Beyond the bag he rolled head over heels like a "possum." O'Callaghan struck out. It looked like a fine game, but the looks didn't last long.

Wilder went out at first. Gorman made two bases when he shouldn't have any, by an overthrow from behind the plate. Davis went out at first, Gorman getting to third. Bower ran on three strikes and, Zethil the umpire failing to call the last one, the striker got to first while Gorman came home. The Iowans demanded an efficient umpire, and Lieutenant Fairchild and John Wise, representing the visitors and the townies respectively, were selected. The Iowa only served a couple of innings, Wise proving thoroughly satisfactory to both sides. With two out Elston came to third and Bower home. Mahuka hit a single and stole second. Kiley made two bags, bringing Mahuka home, on a farther that Kline made a gallant race after, and was left on third when Moore was caught out at center. Score, 4 Brier and Jones went out at first, and George on strikes.

In the third inning the town boys whacked the ball where they listed, but in most cases ought to have been fielded out. The Iowans were not spry in their movements, however, and lost all chances until four runs had been scored. Wilder, Gorman and Davis made a regular procession round the bases on muffs and dilatory throwing. Bower at second on error was brought home by a legitimate three base hit of Lucas. Lemon got two bases for a hit good only for one, and Mahuka got first on error. Lucas and

GREAT COMEDY SUCCESS

"The Magistrate" Draws Largest House of the Season.

Stockwell, a Favorite and Morosco in His Element—Nance O'Neil Was Good of Course.

After last night, Honolulu will be harder than ever to please with comedy. "The Magistrate," as played by the McKee Rankin company was a vociferous triumph. Downstairs and upstairs were packed with people, who were kept in a tumult of mind throughout the four acts. President and Mrs. Dole and Mr. and Mrs. Hatch occupied the proprietor's box, and the Mott-Smiths and Patys the one above. Mrs. S. G. Wilder had a party in the opposite box, and that above was filled with another party.

L. K. Stockwell, in the title role of "Mr. Posket the Magistrate," easily carried off the honors of the evening. He was comicality itself in attitudes, movements, facial expression and utterance. "Cis Farrington" gave Leslie Morosco the opportunity of making a really fine hit. He was up to the fine points of the character in every particular, showing by contrary how badly the play would be marred by having a "stick" in that place.

Herbert Carr was grand as "Col. Lukyn," taking off the effervescent pomp of a particular type of army officer consummately well. George Trimble was a good second in the personation of "Captain Horace Vale," the "Bah Jove" style of soldier.

Nance O'Neil as "Agatha Posket" showed her versatility in a role rather outside her dramatic element. Her elocution was as much a treat as in the serious drama where she shines. She proved in the last act, however, that when the comic is required of her she is equal to the occasion. Miss Gertrude Foster gave a lively characterization of "Charlotte Verrinder," scoring many of the rippling tokens of enjoyment all over the house.

McKee Rankin made a French Boniface that was not a burlesque in the slightest degree. His personation of "Achille Blond," landlord of Hots da Poince, was acting true to the life. It gave exquisite enjoyment not in farcical effect, but as a most artistic portrayal of an interesting type recognizable at a glance by anyone who has seen a little of the world. "Isadore," waiter of the same hotel, was cleverly acted by F. McQuarry.

The other ladies and gentlemen in the cast gave excellent support. Nothing but enthusiastic compliment of the performance was heard in the lobby between acts. Certainly it would be difficult to get more mirth-provoking situations upon the stage than those of the scenes in the hotel and the magistrate's room.

"Leah" will be given Thursday evening. The title role of "Leah the Jewess" is one of Nance O'Neil's masterpieces of dramatic representation.

EXPERTS REPORT.

Experts Cross and Coolidge handed to Minister Smith this morning the report on their investigation of the Government electric light system. The report is a voluminous one and goes into the technical details of the condition of the plant and the wiring of the city. It is asserted that the plant is in fairly good condition considering what there is to work with. Taken as a whole the recommendations for improvements are so numerous that the whole plant will practically have to be made over again.

The 51st Iowa football team was photographed by Davey yesterday morning. A picture is to be forwarded to the home address of each of the players.

KILLED BY THE SHARKS

Supposed to Have Been Fate of the Sargent's Mate.

Fell Overboard When the Ship Was off Makapuu Point—Boat Quickly Manned to Rescue Him.

A most distressing accident happened to the American ship C. F. Sargent yesterday when three miles south of Makapuu point. The first mate, Wm. Norring, fell overboard and was eaten by sharks.

Captain Haskell when seen this morning gave the following account of the accident:

About 2:30 p. m. yesterday we were three miles south of Makapuu point. There was a fresh wind and a rough sea and the ship going ten knots under full sail. The mate was forward putting the port anchor in the shoe. He stumbled and fell overboard. Lines were thrown to him almost immediately and as he passed the stern of the vessel the mate who was there threw him a life buoy. The unfortunate man was about thirty feet from the ship at the time.

In the meantime everything was "let go by the run" and the ship was brought to the wind. Twelve minutes after the mate struck the water a boat was manned and making for him in the direction he was last seen. Shortly after the life buoy was thrown the mate who was swimming toward it disappeared.

Fifteen minutes after the boat left the ship the life buoy was picked up. The crew pulled around in search of the buoy for one hour. The only thing that was seen by the men were several large sharks.

The dead mate was a native of Denmark and has been on the Pacific Coast about twenty years. He joined the Sargent in Tacoma about six weeks ago. Before signing for this trip he had been on the Alaska steamers as pilot. At one time he was mate of the Coloma well known here.

CAPT. DOW DIES AT SEA

Barkentine Planter Returns with Her Commander's Body.

Remains will be Embalmed and Forwarded to California—One of Best Known Captains at This Port.

The barkentine Planter arrived this morning from Lysan Island. She brought the body of Capt. F. A. Dow, who left here in command of her. Captain Dow died at sea on the second of November. Before leaving for the island the captain had been ailing for quite a while. Instead of getting better he grew weaker and weaker. The cause of death was malarial fever and dysentery. Instead of being buried at sea the body was pickled and will be embalmed here and sent home to Oakland, California. Before death the captain gave his last instructions to the mate. He arranged all his family and business affairs, gave directions for the business of the ship on arrival here and also that his body should not be buried at sea.

Captain Dow was in command of the Planter 12 years and was one of the best known and popular skippers coming to this port. He was about forty-two years old and leaves a wife in Oakland who has made several trips here with her husband and whose many friends will be very much shocked to hear of his untimely death.

Captain Dow was to all intents a murdered man. While on a voyage between San Francisco and Honolulu he had some trouble with his Chinese cook, whom in a moment of anger he struck. Next morning the cook served him with powdered glass in his coffee. This brought on hemorrhages, and Captain Dow has never been a well man since. He has been subject, off and on, to violent internal agonies.

RUSSIA'S FINGER IS IN IT

Said to be Backing Spain on Philippine Island Demand.

Note Sent to Powers Except Great Britain—Italy Inclined to Hold Out of the Deal.

New York, Nov. 7.—A Rome cable to an evening paper says: Russia has taken the lead in a new effort to help Spain in her struggle to retain the Philippines, or in any event to prevent the establishment of American rule over the group. The Czar's Government has revealed its scheme through representatives to all the great powers of Europe, with the possible exception of England.

Italy is one of the powers which Russia desired to enlist on her side. The Italian Government was requested to join in presenting a note to the United States regarding the control of the Philippines.

No information has been given as to the exact tenor of the proposed note, but it is generally understood that it would be a request for leniency toward Spain with perhaps an implied threat of intervention.

That Italy is not disposed to accept this proposition is shown by an inspired note in an official journal today. It declares that Spain has little hope of gaining any advantage in retaining the Philippines, and that the best she will be able to do is to compromise the matter with the United States.
